This Statement outlines our commitment to upholding the human rights of our people and those working in our supply chain. The principles of responsible and sustainable business set out in the UN Global Compact are important to MinterEllison. Our Procurement Compliance Standards (Standards) reflect these commitments.

MinterEllison expects our suppliers to comply with relevant laws and demonstrate ethical business practices through their operations and supply chains. We expect our suppliers to demonstrate shared commitment to sustainability, diversity and inclusion and addressing Modern Slavery risk. We aim to work with suppliers which provide goods and services certified as carbon neutral demonstrated by Climate Active certification.

MinterEllison expects its suppliers to act with integrity and be able to demonstrate that they meet our Standards through their own internal policies and procedures aligned with our Standards. We share our Standards with suppliers during the onboarding process and these Standards form part of any supply agreement with us. This include the requirement that suppliers make their employees, contractors and sub-contractors aware of our Standards and use reasonable endeavours to ensure their compliance.

We are committed to collaborating with our suppliers to resolve any issues we identify and provide help to determine what they might need to do to improve and meet our Standards. In instances where a supplier is unable to meet our Standards, modify protocols, or implement additional measures, we may reconsider the procurement of goods or services from that supplier.

This Statement also outlines how our people and third parties can raise a complaint or concern about behaviour by MinterEllison, our suppliers or their officers, employees, contractors or subcontractors that is not aligned to our Standards or this Statement.

If you become aware of any behaviour by MinterEllison, our suppliers or their officers, employees, contractors or subcontractors that is not aligned to our Standards or this Statement, please inform MinterEllison via email at MEProcurement@minterellison.com or CHIEFRISKOFFICE@minterellison.com.
